

Scottish Institute for Research in Economics

Demographic Change and Housing Markets
A One-day Workshop

Sponsored by:

Scottish Institute for Research in Economics (SIRE)

and

Scottish Economics Society (SES)

29 Exchange Square, Glasgow
February 15, 2012

Organised by:

Professor Robert E. Wright, University of Strathclyde

SCOTTISH ECONOMIC SOCIETY

Promoting the study and teaching of economics since 1897

Demographic Change and Housing Markets
Provisional Programme

- 9:00-9:30: Welcome and Coffee
- 9:30-9:45: Introduction, by Robert E. Wright (University of Strathclyde)
- 9:45-10:45: Demographic Change and the Housing Market: Does the Effect Go Both Ways?, by Bo Malmberg (University of Stockholm)
- 10:45-11:45: The Adjustment of Housing Markets to Migration Change: Evidence for the Long and Short Run, by Geoffrey Meen (University of Reading)
- 11:45-12:00 Coffee
- 12:00-1:00: Impact of Population Ageing on House Prices: A Micro-simulation Approach, by Yu Chen (University of Glasgow), Kenneth Gibb (University of Glasgow), Chris Leishman (University of Glasgow) and Robert Wright (University of Strathclyde)
- 1:00-1:30: Lunch
- 1:30-2:30 Housing Equity and Residential Mobility, by John Ermisch (University of Oxford) and Liz Washbrook (University of Bristol)
- 2:30-3:30: Unpaid Care, Housing Decisions and the Resilience of the Care System, by David Bell (University of Stirling) and Alasdair Rutherford (University of Stirling)
- 3:30-3:45 Coffee
- 3:45-4:45 Key Research Issues in the Relationship between Demographic Change and Housing Markets, by David Miles (Monetary Policy Committee)
- 4:45-5:00 Wrap up

If you would like to attend email Robert Wright at: r.e.wright@strath.ac.uk